

Woman to Woman: Providing hope and insight from someone who's been there

OCRA
ovarian cancer
research alliance

A cancer diagnosis can be an overwhelming experience. That's why OCRA offers the Woman to Woman peer support program, so that those diagnosed with a gynecologic cancer don't have to feel alone.

Patients are paired with trained mentors who have gone through it themselves. These mentors provide one-on-one emotional support—from the moment of diagnosis through the end of treatment and beyond.

No matter where you are, someone is here for you.

Matches can be made through our local or national program, and care is taken to connect patients with mentors who are a good fit based on cancer type, age, language and culture, or other preferences. Learn more about getting matched, or becoming a trained mentor at ocrahope.org/womantowoman.

To apply to be matched or become a trained mentor at VICC, please complete an application at vicc.org/survivorship/womantowoman.

For more information about the program, contact the coordinator at 615-322-0449.

OCRA is the world's leader in fighting ovarian cancer, battling the disease from all fronts: in the lab and on Capitol Hill, and through innovative programs to support patients and their families.

Research. Advocacy. Support.

OCRA ovarian cancer
research alliance